Fine arts addition

Bogged by quicksand

by Ron Isbell

Quicksand has brought the construction of the Fine Arts Center addition to a screeching halt, according to Harley Holt, vice president for business affairs.

Holt told the NEWS that further construction of the wing, which would house music facilities, is pending investigation into additional costs. Cost estimates and recommendations as how to proceed are being studied for return to Holt's office "soon."

CONSTRUCTION problems resulting from the two locations of quicksand aren't the only problems of the project. Funding the additional work and alternatives may throw another monkey-wrench into the operation.

Holt said the music wing addition was operating at a lower margin of cost than the Science Building additions. Therefore, the additional money for covering extensive non-planned expenses is not in the budget.

Where will the money come from? "That's a good question. First we'll go to the Illinois Building Authority and see if they have any extra funds available. Then we'll see the Board of Higher Education," Holt said.

HE ALSO said, "One thing is sure, we don't have the money now to complete the project if this problem is very serious. We have a very small contingency."

After the discovery of quicksand, soilboring samples were analyzed at the University of Illinois. Little has been done to the addition for two and a half weeks.

The wing would consist largely of a music auditorium, but also includes studios and music classrooms.

IN SPITE of the lull in construction at the Fine Arts Center, the additions to the Science Building are proceeding on schedule, according to Holt. Construction on the building began Jan. 15 and will take 600 construction days to complete, or roughly three years.

So far workmen have started the underground footings and re-routed the heat tunnels. Holt said construction is going well and there are no problems.

Several other construction projects are also underway. Renovation of the basement and first floor of the Student Services Building has begun.

HOLT SAID the remodeled building will house the data processing center, which will be moved from Blair Hall to allow for expansion of the Business Department.

Also in the planning stage is the expansion of the Physical Plant Building. This addition would house the central supply, shipping and receiving, mail and vehicle departments.

Holt said the expansion project is about ready to go out for bids.

ALSO still under construction is Carman Hall.

Midkiff asks radical plan for entrance

by Rod Greene

A motion that would radically change admission policies at Eastern will be considered by the Student Senate Thursday.

If the measure is approved by the senate, President Quincy Doudna and Eastern's governing board, a student whose family income is less than $6,000 would be admitted to Eastern on an "open admission" basis.

THE SPONSOR of the new admission policy motion, former Senate Speaker Ken Midkiff, said the proposal is necessary to prevent "danger of total exclusion" of financially underprivileged students at Eastern due to the enrollment ceiling.

The proposal would establish priorities for the admission of students whose family income is under $6,000 without regard to rank in high school class or college admission test scores. The only requirement would be that the student have a high school diploma.

The Midkiff program would require the offering of remedial courses and tutorial services to students with deficiencies in areas essential to academic success.

EASTERN'S governing board and the University would be also directed to "make every attempt to procure funds to

Vets lobby try 'successful'

Eastern veterans returned from a trip to the Illinois legislature Thursday with an optimistic outlook that House Bill 559—that would end military scholarships—will not be passed.

However, the student veterans on campus are in the process of "developing a tremendous letter writing campaign" to assure the defeat of the bill, according to spokesman Jim Zumwalt.

THE VETERANS have also enlisted the support of the Student Senate against House Bill 559. Thursday the senate voted unanimously to send letters opposing not only 559, but also House Bills 557 and 558, which are part of "package anti-education legislation in the House Education Committee," according to veteran Don Anderson.

Zumwalt told the NEWS the veterans not only were "successful" in gathering support for their stand against the bill, but received an education about the legislative process in Springfield.

W.L. Glassford, lobbyist for the VFW organization, told Zumwalt "not to worry about House Bill 559." Glassford said that his group would apply pressure on members of the House Education Committee, where Bill 559 is currently being studied.

ZUMWALT was told little could be done by students at this time, and Glassford remarked, "Most of the legislation passed in the legislature is passed either in the Holiday Inn cocktail lounge or in one of the hotels in Springfield."

If the bill does go to the floor of the House, Glassford recommended a letter writing campaign and said it would have a "tremendous effect" on the outcome of Bill 559.

Zumwalt said that though the opposition to 559 is evident, "it doesn't mean the battle is over." He added that while many legislators are sympathetic to veterans' stand, less will oppose Bills 557 and 558 that will end teacher's education

Lecture head selected

Stan Harvey was approved as chairman of the Men's Athletic Board at Thursday's Student Senate meeting.

Three other appointments were made and approved by the senate: Kelvin Gilchrist, chairman of Lecture Series Board; Jim Farris, member of Lecture Series Board; and Bob McGee, appointed to the University Court.

MIKE GOETZ was also named as the Governance Committee chairman.

Students will vote April 8 in a referendum asking that the Student Senate be reapportioned. Under the current reapportionment plan, the number of senators would be increased from 30 to 36.

scholarships and place a two per cent limit on institution waivers at all state colleges.

Zumwalt, as spokesman for the veterans at Eastern, said, "We pointed out (in Springfield) that veterans give up two or more years of their lives to serve their country, and we feel taxpayers should feel it a responsibility to give up a few of their tax dollars for vets to receive higher education."

Eleven apply

For editors' positions

Eleven students have applied for the editorships of the three student publications, the NEWS, the WARBLER and the VEHICLE.

ALL OF THE above applicants have worked on the NEWS in editorial or reportorial positions.

Three are vying for the WARBLER editorship. They are: Patricia E. Cummins, junior from Olney; Arthur R. Sandberg, junior from Rantoul; and Nancy J. Thurmond, junior from Mattoon.

Both Miss Cummins and Sandberg occupied editorial positions on this year's WARBLER. Miss Thurmond is a reporter for the NEWS.

VERNA L. Jones is the only applicant for the editorship of the VEHICLE. She has contributed works in the past to the VEHICLE.

According to publications adviser Dan Thornburgh, this is the largest group of candidates ever interviewed for the three positions.

Editors will be chosen by Thornburgh and Ken Anderson, assistant adviser, after consultation with the Student Publications Board.

Campus GOP's move to units

A group of campus Republicans voted last week to take steps to begin forming a new, united Republican organization at Eastern.

Meeting in a special "Conference on Republicans at Eastern" called by Bill Warmoth, a campus GOP leader, the students endorsed a resolution that "it is the sense of this group to form an organization of all Republicans on this campus."

MOTIONS were also passed to appoint a Constitution Committee and to hold the next meeting within 10 days. A Sunday meeting is anticipated. The committee members selected were John Phelps, chairman; Gary Johnson; and Larry Finley.

Warmoth was chosen as the group's temporary chairman until the start of next meeting, at which another election will be conducted.

Present at the conference were several members of the College Republicans and one member of the Young Republicans. Also attending were former members of both existing clubs.

THOSE attending were: Warmoth, Phelps, Johnson, Finley, Carl Semrau, John Roberts, Rita Clark, Marilyn Graff, Amy Dedman, Dana Shively, Christine Bendas, Melinda Gourlie, Tim Ulland, Brenda Jones, Dianne Aceto, Chris Brave and Dan Walton.

assist financially-deprived students in meeting the total cost of education to avoid the possibility of part-time employment hindering the student's academic work."

Midkiff reported that his motion follows the basic goal of a committee on which he recently served. The committee decided the primary goal of higher education in the next 10 years should be to "bring in those who have been denied admission to college in the past."

He said the junior college system in Illinois was "notoriously weak" and that more underprivileged should be accepted into four-year colleges.

Civil war

NEW DELHI, India--The Pakistani government claimed Saturday that the army has won control in its eastern province where civil war has been raging since Thursday. But reports from the frontier said heavy fighting was still going on.

With both East and West Pakistan under a strict censorship blackout, news of the conflict was sketchy. Spare reports that did get out of Pakistan were sharply conflicting.

Supply rush

SAIGON--U.S. B52 Stratofortresses pounded the mountainous sections of the Ho Chi Minh trail Saturday after reports of increased enemy movement indicated a late season rush to get supplies to North Vietnamese forces in the South.

Because of widespread damage to the trail and supply dumps by U.S. air power during the South Vietnamese incursion into Laos, the North Vietnamese appeared to be making an unusual effort to get supplies to their forces in South Vietnam and Cambodia before the spring rains.

Booze rules

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.--The drug scene may be big elsewhere, but as college students start their annual spring vacation rites here, booze still seems to be king. As in years past, every day for many of them seems to be a rerun of the day before: beach in the morning, beer at noon, more of each until sundown and the bars at night.

Five titles

HOUSTON--UCLA'S hard-pressed Bruins finally subdued Villanova's scrappy "Iron Men" 68-62 Saturday with a deep-freeze and the career high-point production of senior Steve Patterson to extend their NCAA basketball championship dynasty to an unprecedented five consecutive titles.

My Lai trial

FT. BENNING, Ga.--The jury in Lt. William L. Calley Jr.'s My Lai murder trial was given permission Saturday to rehear more testimony, eliminating any chance of a verdict before Monday.

In its 11th day of deliberation, the jury again heard the testimony of three of the eight witnesses it had requested before the judge, Col. Reid Kennedy, left the courthouse.

Rock hounds, but no dogs

The Kickapoo Rock and Mineral Club displayed hundreds of polished and raw rocks at their annual show in the University Union Ballroom Saturday and Sunday. Here children fished for gems. The main attraction of the show were the rock chips returned from the moon via Apollo 14 and the florite chapel that required over 6,000 man hours to construct. Other displays featured ready-made jewelry or kits to make it yourself. One group displayed jewelry that was priceless and could not be replaced.

Foreign students
high achievers

As the result of long-term planning, Eastern has been offered exceptional foreign students by the Institute of International Education and the Fulbright Commission, as well as the State Department.

All applicants are leading students of their countries, high academic achievers who would usually attend Ivy league schools on the east coast.

These students, described by the Foreign Student's Office as "the cream of the cream," would come from Argentina, Chile, Malaysia and Spain.

Kennard buys; puts
'Ike' back in Ike's

by Larry Rodgers

Older students may begin to notice a familiar face at Ike's, none other than the namesake of that famous institution. Ivan "Ike" Kennard has taken over management of Ike's again.

Kennard, who owned and operated Ike's from 1948 until 1969, took over management of Ike's Monday. Kennard commented that there will be no noticeable change in Ike's for the first couple of weeks.

HE SAID that he was just going to get the feel of things for a while and make changes later that he thinks will appeal to students and that he, himself, deems necessary.

One change which he is instituting immediately should be quite evident to students, however, and that is the reduction in price of draft Budweiser from the 30 cents it now costs to its former price of 25 cents.

Kennard explained that he will try to fill only the position of supervisor at the business. He has hired a former Eastern student, Greg Taylor, to manage Ike's.

TAYLOR, who graduated from Eastern last year, had worked at Ike's under Kennard and Paul Cox, former owner of Ike's, for

Sponsored by the combined Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils, the main purpose of the event was "to honor President Doudna for his past aid and recognition of Greeks as well as his many contributions to Eastern Illinois University."

Officers and housemothers of Beta Sigma Psi, Kappa Delta, Sigma Tau Gamma and Alpha Sigma Alpha, each representing their individual sorority or fraternity, greeted the two couples upon their arrival.

JIM GIBSON, Pi Kappa Alpha, president of IFC, and Pat O'Donovan, Kappa Delta, president of Panhellenic Council, were among the many who greeted the administrative heads and their wives. Jerry Zachary, assistant dean of men, was also present.

UNDER the co-chairmanship of Marj Carey, Alpha Sigma Alpha, and Mike Palm, Beta Sigma Psi, the evening began with a progressive dinner at several of the Greek houses, followed by a dance in McAfee Gym.

The Doudnas and Vice President Glenn Williams and his wife were picked up at their homes at 6 p.m. and were a total of five years.

Cox, who ran Ike's from 1969 until yesterday, commented that he has no plans for the immediate future.

"I WILL continue to cater primarily to college students and attempt to maintain Ike's as one of the most popular places on campus," Kennard said.

Hours will remain the same at Ike's, 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to midnight on Saturdays.

Housing forum airs both sides

by Gordon Britton

Approximately 40 students attended the first administration-student forum Thursday on the question, "Do you think the University should make students live in approved housing?"

The forum, held in the University Union Ballroom during float hours, began with the introduction of the panel members by moderator Scott Smith, physics.

SMITH then told the audience that the program would be in three parts, listening to tapes of students' opinions on the topic, speakers from the administration, faculty and students; and an open question period.

The majority opinion on the tapes was that the University should not force students under the age of 21 who are not married or seniors to live in approved housing.

One hundred fifteen of the people questioned expressed this opinion, while only four felt that the University should control student housing.

MOST OF the students understood the financial difficulty that the University would face under a free housing program, but felt that the problem could be solved in some other way.

The panel portion of the program began with Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, who said that the reason that the dorms were built was student demand for more housing in 1967 and that now that the dorms are finished, they will have to be paid off whether they are operating or not.

For this reason, said Williams, it is necessary to keep the dorms full in order to pay the bonds on them.

THE NEXT speaker, faculty member William Ridgeway, zoology, stated that he supports the University's present policy

SIU student head asks Holderman quit

Larry Sumner, president of the student body at Southern Illinois University—Edwardsville, last week called for the resignation of James B. Holderman, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The board has recently recommended increased tuition for the next school year at state-supported colleges and universities. Sumner, who held a news conference there, said the student government at his school had given a unanimous vote of no confidence in Holderman and had called for his resignation at the earliest possible moment.

"UNDER Holderman's leadership the board has lost the confidence of those in the academic community," said Sumner. "It is essential that the board that governs high education regain the confidence that it has lost."

"This can only be accomplished if the leadership that has promoted board policy is changed." Holderman should resign at once. Higher education greatly needs a voice that will have the courage to speak out for its interests. Mr. Holderman's performance in behalf of higher education has been extremely poor."

Review court system

The four-level student court system "on trial" this year will be heard, deliberated on and sentenced by a six-man task force scheduled to begin work soon.

A preliminary review committee met briefly last week and agreed to authorize a three-student, three-administrator task force to handle the evaluation, according to Jack Marks, student

WRA wears pants

Women's Lib wins again

The thrust of the female liberation movement has finally touched Eastern's campus.

Taking one small step for a woman but a giant step for womankind, Eastern's largest organization—the Women's Recreation Association (W.R.A.), scoffed off pristine tradition and proclaimed that pants can now be worn at council meetings.

THIS ruling, which shattered all past custom, came into being at a recent council meeting held in McAfee Gym.

This particular assemblage was laden with a new and unexplainable aura of potency.

As usual, the meeting also reflected democracy in its boldest grass roots form: everyone was heard.

Alas, the uproar commenced, and the seas were parted. Everyone present expounded their mixed emotions and opinions as to the fate of the baby blue uniforms.

The majority ruled, however, and the uniforms will remain solely under the netwomen's domain. A decision was rendered to purchase new uniforms for the softball team next year.

NEXT ON the agenda came an unexpected outburst from the tennis contingent revolving around the fact that they had no place to practice their forte.

It seems the male tennis squad has their practice slated for the same time and place. Obviously, the men have top preference.

Although the predicament was not actually resolved, unheralded shouts of "women's lib" and equal rights" echoed throughout the tennis discussion.

FINALLY THE biggest bomb of all was dropped as a resounding voice from the back of the room proposed that skirts should not be mandatory for the W.R.A. council meetings.

After a careful check of the constitution, it was noted that there is no mention of skirts in the by-laws.

A vote was taken and pants were allowed. Adding to the irony and "anti-climaticness" of this vote was the fact that chairman pro tem was, in fact, wearing slacks.

COMING up at the new "Libbies" next session is the presentation of executive officers for next year.

Coke hour sponsored by 7 church groups

The Eastern community is invited to share in a coke hour at the United Campus Ministry Center, 2202 S. Fourth St., Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

This informal social is sponsored by seven Christian student organizations, with the goal of promoting understanding and cooperation among Christian student groups at Eastern.

PLANS FOR this social grew out of conversations between Jerry Zachary, assistant dean of men and sponsor of the Campus Crusade for Christ, and Bob Ross, a campus minister and sponsor for the Christian Collegiate Fellowship.

Sponsors and student members from other groups then met to discuss avenues of interchange. The decision was made to start with a coke hour and then to determine the interest of students in the development of other means of interchange and cooperation.

Participating groups are: Baptist Student Union, Campus Crusade for Christ, Christian Collegiate Fellowship, Christian Student Fellowship, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Newman Community and Roger Williams Fellowship.

The film stars Orson Welles, Richard Johnson and Cyril Cussock.

Crest, Brut fill suitcases' bags

by Chris Benignus

Did you ever wonder about the Eastern suiter's suitcase? Are you a reforming hippie who is bewildered by grooming aids?

ARE YOU a normal student who would like to know about popular medicines and beer?

If so, your questions were answered by an individual survey which the "Reader's Digest" prepared for Eastern.

This survey, called "Characteristics of the College Market," was taken in 1969-70. A carefully selected cross section of 81 students was questioned. Fifty-three were male and 28 were female.

IN ANSWER to the first question, the survey revealed that 25.9 per cent of those interviewed do not own a suitcase, which has a lot to say about their ingenuity in getting home so often.

The other 74.2 per cent were better equipped with between two and five pieces of luggage.

As to the second question, which was directed to the hippie who may be planning on student teaching, the popularity of grooming aids was rated by the survey.

THE FINDINGS include the fact that 38.9 per cent of male students questioned used Gillette Foamy shaving cream. Colgate Barber-Shave rated second in popularity with 11.1 per cent users.

A suitcase's suitcase is loaded with various toiletry articles, but a few seem to dominate. Among the leaders are Right Guard, Crest, Secret, Gillette Foamy and Ultra Brite. Marshall Pitman is filling his shaving bag for a trip home. Another favorite with Eastern students is Budweiser.

INYART'S

North Side of Square

If such a hippie wanted to maintain his identity as a non-conformist, he could go along with the 0 per cent of the population who used products such as Burma Shave and Trol.

Another grooming aid of interest was after-shave. Girls deciding on birthday presents might like to know that Brut was the after-shave favored by 18.4 per cent of users surveyed on campus.

ENGLISH Leather ranked second with 13.2 per cent of the sales, and Jade East claimed 10.5 per cent.

Nothing can be taken for granted at Eastern, such as the notion that everyone uses toothpaste at least once a day. Two of the 81 students questioned about this grooming necessity use it once a month.

Crest was found to be the most widely used brand, 41.5 per cent, by the survey. Colgate and Ultra Brite had 22.6 and 15.1 per cent of the market, respectively.

WHAT ARE your chances of getting a roommate who only uses deodorant once a month or less? 3.7 per cent, according to the survey.

Before you move into a single room, consider the fact that the statistics are based on a cross section which did not exceed 100 students. So the situation may not be as bad as it seems.

Right Guard deodorant was preferred by 42.3 per cent of Eastern men, who also used a lot of Ban, 21.2 per cent. Evidently the women felt that Arid and Secret are more feminine, for each product was bought by 28.6 of those questioned. Right Guard sold to 14.3 per cent of the women.

Contact lens wetting solution was another product which fell into the grooming category. A surprisingly low 17.2 per cent of students used it. This could be a result of the survey's failure to ask about contact lens soaking solution.

Ever hear the commercial that said Tackle acne preparation was not just for guys? The women at Eastern did not seem to believe that.

CLEARASIL, Phisohex and Noxema were favored by the 12 girls in the survey who use such cleansing solutions. Clearasil, Tackle, Noxema and Hyperphase were used by the 19 men who answered the question.

If you have a headache, stomachache or "symptoms due to colds," you are probably well-stocked in Bayer aspirin, Pepto-bismol, Contact time capsules and the symbol of the Eastern Health Service, Coricidin, because these medicines were the most widely used by the students surveyed.

Did you read this article this far just because you wanted to know what the most popular beer on campus was?

Need teaching guideline

Vice President for Academic Affairs Peter Moody recently sent a list of professional duties each instructor should follow to the Faculty Senate with the request that the senate endorse the list and recommend the President include them in the Faculty Manual.

The duties include telling students how they will be evaluated, how the final course grade will be determined and explaining that grades will not be awarded on the basis of attendance—essential information students should know in the first few days of each new quarter.

MOODY apologetically explained in the preface of his request that "I would neither be so presumptuous nor so patently tiresome as to enumerate maxims which every professional well knows..." and then explained that apparently primary instructional principles are being abused because student complaints are becoming numerous.

The truth is that some professional instructors don't follow the primary rules of instruction here, and it is good a man of Moody's academic stature realizes this.

Some of the duties Moody lists are: Correct and return student tests and papers promptly. Be vigilant to avoid the award of grades on any basis other than achievement in the course. Scrupulously and accurately report grades on all his students by the deadlines established each quarter for mid-quarter grades, if appropriate, and for final or quarter grades.

WE CAN'T report exactly why certain instructors fail to perform these basic functions, but accidentally or not, some instructors do. This should be the basis of concern for the faculty; however, in the last meeting of the Faculty Senate, a minor furor arose over the proposal from Moody. Several Faculty Senators thought the proposal was an insult, and one accused the administration of using the faculty as a whipping boy.

Why can't the list be taken as Moody meant it to be taken—as a guideline? Since the list doesn't overtly threaten instructors, why must it be taken thusly?

Of course, if an instructor has failed to live up to the duties enumerated, maybe he should feel threatened.

GRANTED, each instructor has his own method of teaching. However, the instructor's individuality should not entirely baffle the student.

We think a few guidelines for instructors are beneficial and serve to help students through the educational maze they face.

Perhaps more time can be spent on learning course material if worries about grading procedures, fairness and attendance are eliminated.

ONE STEP toward this improved classroom situation would be the adherence of the faculty to professional duties listed by the vice president for academic affairs.

No, these are not students who are digging their way out of Parking Lot J. Nor are they digging a moat around Old Main. These are actually workmen laying the foundation of the Physical Science addition.

"Pretty good. We've narrowed it down to six candidates."

Guestspot . . . Janine Hartman

Parking Lot J is actually plowed field

Despite the fact that Eastern has no agriculture department, it does maintain a plowed field, officially designated as Parking Lot J, the area northwest of Lantz allotted to blue and yellow parking permits. Lot J is more familiarly known to the student permit holders as the "West Forty."

At least one third of the area marked as Lot J has no gravel whatsoever and is referred to by University officials as "grass," although it is scarred with ruts and students labor under the impression that the substance in which their vehicles become mired is commonly called "mud."

A PORTION of this "grass" area is fenced off and set aside as a storage area for materials being used in the present construction. At present nothing is stored there, and the unfenced unimproved area still constitutes a nuisance to student drivers.

Should a student chance to get his car stuck, the University will not assume responsibility, or the tow charge, although presumably University Parking Lot J is owned by the University. However, heavy equipment from the Physical Plant has hauled out student vehicles in the past. The chief danger in getting stuck in winter is the risk that the mud will freeze, locking the car into place, and thereby blocking up the University lot and causing a traffic obstacle, which does annoy the University.

It is interesting to note that the soggy wasteland begins precisely at the middle entrance, providing a convenient area to be forced off into during the rush hours' peak traffic.

The Physical Plant cannot improve this area with its own funds because it operates on taxes, and Illinois law forbids the use of tax funds to build parking facilities at universities. The money for all such improvements comes from a fund derived from the money accrued by sale of parking permits and collection of fines.

THIS FUND is administered by the office of Martin Schaefer, vice president for development. In the March 19 issue of the NEWS, Schaefer stated that the parking situation is not "critical." Schaefer is currently out of town and unavailable for comment.

The last parking facilities constructed from this fund are the two lots behind the Afro-American Center. Lot J now has priority, if and when parking lot money becomes available.

When funds are forthcoming, Lot J will be paved, marked and provided with curbs. A spokesman for Physical Plant has stated that it is not known when funds will be released.

IT IS highly probable that, until the end of campus construction, Lot J will remain as it is, inadequate and exasperating. According to the official plans for the improvement of parking facilities, the next improvements are scheduled for 1973.

Until then, unless they care to park in the other blue lot, which is paved, but is located east of Andrews Hall, it appears that many student motorists will have a muddy spring.

Says Virgo is 'right on'

Dear editor:

As a former student of Eastern, I feel it's time to express my feelings on the "Virgo" controversy at Eastern.

To smash the communication barrier at Eastern, community members must show the visions they are seeing, imagining. Humanity is something you learn through actions, by doing it...not learning theories.

AND AS you do it, your mind starts to change. You have to begin to feel it in your bones and not in your mind. Yes...that is doing.

"Virgo" is the umbilical cord to the heart of the world. When he lives his scene, he's not acting; there is no dichotomy...alienation. What he is doing is real.

Eastern must kill the actors...and then the audiences to savor humanity.

Eastern

Where are you now?

Don't you know how?

Eastern, Eastern, In the Sky, Why won't you tell me Why?

What is false Face unto false Heart?

Must false Ego hide What false Self doth know?

If so, Who is the foe?

Who will ever know,

What you are to show? How will you ever know, If you are too slow?

The church has condemned it as tampering with the will of God,

and depending on your era, as witchcraft.

Science has called it faulty, erring and completely unreliable.

SOME state legislatures have even gone so far as to try to outlaw it.

But in a time when man questions his future and longs to know what lies ahead, fortune-telling is again gaining in importance, and many of the more ancient methods are being revived.

The Tarot, a method that over the past centuries has been overshadowed by astrological readings and palmistry, is regaining its popularity.

NO ONE IS quite sure just when the Tarot originated. The cards, as we know them today, can be traced back to 14th century France and the reign of Charles VI. Examples of these early forms can still be found in many European museums.

But their ancient origins actually date back much further. Some claim that the Tarot card symbols began as paintings on the walls of Egyptian temples.

The priest, it is told, read this early form of Tarot by tossing rods—each one engraved with a symbol of one member of a family—on the temple's altar. As a rod fell, the sign it pointed

Pharmacy school

rep here tomorrow

A representative from the admissions office of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy will be on campus Wednesday to meet students who are interested in receiving the professional portion of their education at the college.

Students interested in an interview should come to the Pre-Med Office, Physical Science Building, room 417, between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. on that date.

to would determine what lay ahead for that particular family member.

OTHER researchers, like Paul Foster Case in his book, "The Tarot" (Macy Publishing Company, New York, 1947), trace the invention of these cards to Fez, Morocco. Fez at one time was an important literary and scientific center.

According to Case, the use of symbolic picture cards—which could have developed into Tarot cards—were created to aid communication between the philosophers, who, because of different language backgrounds, could not exchange ideas verbally.

The Tarot deck is made of 78 cards in all: 22 Greater Arcana (Major Trump) cards and 56 lesser Arcana cards.

THE 22 Greater Arcana cards are picture cards with captions in Italian or French. They are further identified by the Roman Numerals I through XXI. The Fool, or "Le Mat," is given no number.

Each of these cards alone embodies a specific meaning. The Fool (Le Mat) for example, can be interpreted as Folly, Thoughtlessness or Extravagance.

The Lovers (L'Amoureux) indicates, appropriately, Love Beauty and Harmony. And Death (La Mort) speaks of Sudden Change or Death.

THE 22 Greater Arcana Cards can be used alone to predict the future, but it is in combination with the 56 remaining cards that they are usually used.

The 56 Lesser Arcana Cards were combined with the Major Trumps sometime during the 14th century. These 56 cards are divided into four suits and are concerned with four separate elemental worlds.

The "Epees," or Swords, speak of the formative world and are connected to the element Air.

THE "Coupes," or Cups, indicated the creative world and tie in with the element water.

The "Batons," commonly called Wands or Scepters, concern themselves with the ideal world and the element Fire.

The "Deniers" (Pentacles), or Coins, are involved with the material world and the element Earth.

(THESE SAME four suites are the forerunners of our modern suits: "Epees" became spades, the "Coupes" became hearts, the "Batons" became clubs, and the "Deniers" became diamonds.)

The four Tarot suits are again divided into ace through 10. Each number has an individual significance which combines with the general meaning of the suit when interpreted.

Each suit also contains four court cards: King (Roi), who symbolizes the spirit; Queen (Reine), who is equated with the soul; Knight (Chevalier), who is selfhood or ego; and Page (Valet), who symbolizes the body.

THE METHOD of spreading and interpreting the deck differs with the source consulted. Generally, it is believed that the cards should read from right to left; that is, each card influences the card that precedes it.

Stage band plays 30 students' works

An informal concert of student compositions and arrangements will be presented today at 8 p.m. in the University Union Ballroom.

The short concert by Stage Band 2 will feature compositions of about 30 students. Andy McCutcheon, Fred Graves, Ed Cole and Sam Reese will present eight arrangements.

We believe that you should have the right to decide whether your abortion will be performed in a hospital or outpatient facility.

We believe that in all cases, the facility used should be perfectly equipped and staffed.

Madge Cecka plays fortune-teller with Tarot cards. The new rage is gaining in popularity and is now well-known in the art of telling the future. The order in which the cards appear has as much effect on the future as the cards themselves, as each card affects the next.

The meanings are combined when interpreted. Not only is the position of the card in the deck important, but also whether it appears right side up or upside down when spread. (A reversed card gives a directly opposite meaning.)

The Questioner, the person seeking his future, is asked to shuffle the cards three times. The Reader cuts the cards between each shuffling. In this way both the Reader and the Questioner subconsciously influence the outcome of the cards.

THE READER is given only a general interpretation to work from by the instructional booklets. The card VII "Le Chariot" (the Chariot), for example, can mean war, vengeance, difficulty, trouble or victory, triumph and conquest, depending completely on the Reader's judgment.

It becomes almost a game of free association in which the Reader, although familiar with general explanations, is required to relay his subconscious responses.

Maybe one reason for Tarot's boom in popularity is this adaptability. Anyone with a deck of Tarot cards, an instructional booklet and a good imagination can dabble in the black art of fortune-telling.

because he does not feel that the students could exert enough pressure on the landlords of Charleston to stop rent gouging, insure proper maintenance and stop discrimination.

He felt that, since the University has enough power, it should remain in control of student housing.

Ridgeway said that he feels that the present program is basically good, but that some changes should be made, especially in the area of upgrading the standards of approved off-campus housing.

DONNA Walker, Women's Residence Hall Association, was the next panelist to speak. She expressed the opinion that, with permission from their parents, students should be allowed to live wherever they wanted.

To solve the financial problem, she suggested that the dorm that would be closed by an open housing policy could be used as an office building or extension of the union.

RAY PRANSKE, Student Senator, spoke next. He said that the older dorms were built with a "positive" attitude, while dorms are now built with a "negative" attitude.

According to Pranske, the older dorms were built to give the students good housing facilities, but the attitude toward the new dorms is to pay off the bond issues.

He said that students could form pressure groups so that the people who rent to students would be forced to furnish adequate living quarters.

THE QUESTIONS during the question and answer period were for the most part rather tame. Although students become rather heated in their discussion of this topic in their peer groups, they did now show this fervor to the panel.

One student asked, "Who has the most authority, parents or the University?"

Donald Kluge, dean of housing, answered by stating that the University is gradually changing. He said that 10 years ago the University was very strict in enforcing the housing policy, but that today special considerations are made in certain cases.

The College Poll was started at the urging of top newspaper editors to provide a dialogue with college students.

Now in its third year and in 11 countries, The College Poll covers thousands of in-depth interviews which are processed and reported to more than 50 leading newspapers and over NBC "Monitor" every weekend.

Holt said the dorm is "virtually completed, with only a few punch list items remaining."

The remaining items are the loose ends and small finishing jobs that accompany the completion of any construction job, Holt commented.

Accounting Club bridges gaps

A communication gap exists between managers, accountants, marketing people and others in the business line, both in the real world and in Blair Hall.

The Accounting Club is attempting to bridge this gap.

ANY paid-up spring-quarter member of the Accounting Club may be reimbursed for $1 of the dues he's paid to another business club he joins if he shows proof of having paid his membership dues in that club to the Accounting Club officers.

According to the Accounting Club officers, the club's purpose is to help prepare its members for a job in the business world, meaning all areas of business, not just accounting.

GOP's gear up for campaign

Campus Republicans are gearing up for another campaign—this time in support of Max E. Coffey, GOP candidate for supervisor of Charleston Township.

Coffey is challenging a long-time Democrat incumbent for the important office in an election scheduled for April 6.

SEVERAL campus GOP indicated their desire to aid in the campaign at the March 21 "Conference on Republican Unity at Eastern." More are expected to join this weekend and next when students will blitz shopping areas with Coffey literature.

Bill Warmoth, who is coordinating the collegiate effort for Coffey, said that a strong push by campus Republicans could provide the winning margin in the Charleston florist's bid for the traditionally Democratic seat.

Any students interested in joining the Coffey campaign effort should contact Warmoth, 345-5531.

progressive dinner. Officers of Alpha Gamma Delta, Lambda Sigma Chi, Sigma Kappa and Pi Kappa Alpha greeted the honored guests when they arrived at the house on Tenth Street.

The main course of the meal, chicken valencia, was served at the AKL house. The Doudnas spent approximately an hour talking to the men and women of Alpha Kappa Lambda, Sigma Pi, Delta Chi and Delta Zeta.

DESSERT was served at the TKE house, with the women of Sigma Sigma Sigma, and the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Phi Sigma Epsilon and Delta Sigma Phi waiting to greet Doudna and his wife.

After their meal, the Doudnas were escorted to McAfee Gym for the second half of their "surprise" evening. Their arrival at the gym marked the beginning of an all-Greek dance, with music provided by the Eastern Jazz Band, under the direction of Peter Vivona.

During the dance, Gibson and Miss O'Donovan presented President Doudna and his wife with a large engraved silver platter, a gift from the Greek men and women at Eastern, as a token of their gratitude for all that Doudna has done for the Greek system.

IN A BRIEF comment,

President and Mrs. Quincy Doudna begin their progressive dinner party at the Alpha Sig house with hors d'oeuvres.

Doudna thanked everyone who had helped to make the event a successful and enjoyable one. He stated that the administration was in favor of the work done by the Greek system, and he expressed a desire for its continuing success on Eastern's campus.

Cake and punch were served in keeping with the theme of the program. And as an extra "personal" touch, everyone joined in singing Happy Birthday to Mrs. Doudna in celebration of her birthday on Saturday.

The AKL house provided the final stop and main course for the traveling dinner party. Following the meal, which was attended by representatives from all Greek organizations, a dance was held in McAfee Gym.

Slate lecture on prohibition

The History Department and the History Club will present the lecture, "Prohibition: 13 Awful Years" by David Maurer, Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Coleman Hall Auditorium.

Maurer received his Ph.D. from Ohio State University and specialized in recent American history.

MAURER feels there are many similarities between the prohibition era and present day American society. An example of this would be disrespect for the law (white lightning and pot) and attempted legislation of morality.

Spitz on sports

I received a phone call Thursday night soon after the paper came out from Phil Parratore, founder and leader of the Orange Sunshine. It seems that he was concerned about how my column concerning his group was meant.

According to Phil, the column could be taken two ways, and he had proof of this. After he read the article, he went to a number of people and asked them what they thought about it.

by Marty Spitz

ONE GROUP, the ones who understood me, felt I was complimenting the Orange Sunshine on their efforts at community involvement and directing a few sarcastic remarks at the so-called older generation who are quick to criticize youth in general on the actions of a few.

Another, those on whom sarcasm is evidently lost, thought I was digging at the Orange Sunshine. I don't see how they could come to this conclusion, but they did. This naturally worried Phil, and thus the reason for this second column.

This time I am putting it all in straight talk for those people who don't like to tax their minds.

I THINK the Orange Sunshine is doing a very good job for student-community relations. They have raised money for charity and plan to continue doing so. Also, they have gotten to know their fellow townspeople by playing softball with the police, and this year they plan to play the police, Greeks, faculty and fire department softball teams.

I hope this is clear enough for everybody. Besides, I'd have to be an awful rotten person to criticize a group that is doing good for people. I really hate to think that those who thought I was criticizing them could think so badly of me.

Doudna for conference

A leadership role in discussions that could lead to the formation of a new athletic conference including Eastern has been charted for the University's athletic officials.

Suggestions that would guide Eastern to undertake an active part in organizing the proposed conference came from President Quincy Doudna who stated, "I believe that we should pursue the possibility of the new conference with a hope that a satisfactory league can be put together."

DOUDNA said he would like to see Eastern take the leadership in attempting to work out with officials from other schools mentioned as prospective members a set of conference proposals that would be compatible with the needs of the University's program of intercollegiate athletics.

He indicated that if adequate groundwork is done by athletic directors of the various schools, he would be pleased to host a meeting at the presidential level to discuss the matter further.

Doudna said, "It is my feeling that membership in a well-organized conference would tend to give our athletic program a sound footing based on healthy and robust intercollegiate competition."

EASTERN has operated as an independent in athletics since the spring of 1970, when the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (IIAC) was disbanded. Discussions are now under way among eight Great Lakes area schools, including three former IIAC members, that could lead to formation of a new league.

Institutions involved in the talks, which were launched in early January, are Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois, Northern Michigan, Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Youngstown and Akron, Ohio.

Eastern and Western Illinois and Central Michigan were the last surviving members of the IIAC.

A MEETING of athletic directors of the eight schools to continue preliminary discussions is scheduled April 2 and 3 at Ypsilanti, Michigan.

Moll rolls high games

Ed Moll scored the high individual game with 252 and the high individual series with 623, earning a spot on the Honor Roll in the Monday Night Faculty-Staff Bowling League.

The high team series was a 2216 scored by the Chelonians.

IN THE Tuesday Night Women's League, the high individual game winner was Betty Brown with a 168.

The high individual series was 490 scored by Lee Landsaw, and the high team series was a 1695 scored by Dean's Milk.

Free throws

Yoder 10th in nation

Eastern hoopster Gary Yoder (Arthur) finished the 1970-71 season as the tenth best free throw shooter in the country, according to final statistics of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Yoder, 5-11 guard and a two-year letterman, made 99 of 114 attempts from the free throw line for an .868 percentage.

HE PLAYED in all of Eastern's 27 games and carried a 12.1 scoring average, although he was not a regular starter during the last half of the season.

Yoder's performance this past season did not equal the .873 percentage he posed last year when he set a school record of hitting on 76 of 87 charity tosses.

However, in order to be nationally ranked a player must score at least 85 free throws during the season.

PAUL Hackett, Southwest Texas State, emerged as the top free throw shooter with a .911 percentage on 114 points in 125 attempts.

Fuerst first in Chicago

by Marty Spitz
Keith Fuerst took first place in the NCAA College Division Championship gymnastics meet, became an all-American and won a spot in the NCAA University Championship this weekend.

The College Division meet held in Chicago Thursday, Friday and Saturday, was of a higher calibre than the NAIA tournament held the week before, according to coach John Schaefer.

SIX TEAMS scored above 150 in the NCAA meet, while only one did so in Louisiana.

Eastern placed 11th out of 30 teams with a score of 136.6, just one point from 10th place. The gymnasts have scored in the vicinity of 139 six times this season, leading Schaefer to comment that he thought the team was consistent.

"They always seem to rise to the occasion," he stated.

Chicago Circle, winner of the league Eastern participates in, took fourth with 154.6 points and placed a man third.

The first day of the meet was compulsory routines, in which all participants do the same routine. Fuerst was tied for fifth at the end of the day.

THE SECOND day, when individual routines were done, Fuerst was in fourth place.

He scored a remarkable 9.25 on the still rings the third day and averaged 8.96 total. Schaefer attributed the high score on the still rings, the highest in Fuerst's career, to a

Phi Sigs 1st

Phi Sigma Epsilon ran away with the intramural gymnastics meet in Lantz Tuesday night with a score of 55.55. The Puds were second with 37.55, and Taylor South took third with 26.05 points.

The all-around high scorer was Gary Powell (Phi Sig) who scored 29.20 points, taking first in the floor exercise event, long horse vaulting, and parallel bars and a third in the still rings and horizontal bar events. He scored a 6.2, 6.35, 5.15, 4.75 and 4.85 respectively.

ALL-AROUND awards also went to Brian Baker (Taylor South) with a 26.05 score, Mike Ray (Puds) scoring 23.15 and Marv Paster (Ind.) with 12.04 points.

new routine, straight arm giants. This was the first time Fuerst had done these.

The top three scorers in the meet will go to the University Championship in Ann Arbor, Michigan, this weekend. The top 3 from 9 other divisions such as the Big 10 will also attend, making 30 contestants vying for 6 medals.

SCHAEFER says he is hoping for a medal, but he rates Fuerst in the top 15 or 20.

"Training for gymnastics is serious, and must be done seven days a week all year round," according to John E. Schaefer, head gymnastics coach.

Because of the slow learning process involved in becoming a good performer, Schaefer feels that many people do not have the ability to stick it out for the three or four years that it takes to become a varsity competitor.

THE LARGE number of men who have dropped out of gymnastics bears out Schaefer's belief.

There are, though, at Eastern a group of men who have had the dedication and ability to become varsity gymnasts. They are:

Bob Bass

Bass is a freshman from Addison. His best event is the still rings, in which he has averaged 7.22 in the last 11 meets. Bob is the fifth highest scorer on the team.

Pete Klein

A freshman from Mt. Prospect, Klein is the team's number one man on the parallel bars. He placed fourth in NAIA competition. Klein, according to Schaefer, shows a lot of potential.

Mark Watman

The second "work horse" on the team, according to Schaefer, Watman is the second highest scorer on the team. He is a freshman from Oak Park. Mark's favorite event is the high bars.

Tom Busch

A freshman from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Busch competes in the floor exercise and vaulting events. He is the 1971 NAIA trampoline champion and an NAIA all-American.

Busch had a broken foot, which kept him out part of the year, but he still managed to accumulate enough points to become the team's fourth highest scorer.

Kim Moore

Moore is a freshman from Arlington Heights. He competes in the floor exercise and vaulting events. He has been the team's number one vaulter for half of the season.

John Valentino

John is a freshman from Mt. Prospect and competes in the still rings event. Valentino scored a 9.05 at the league and missed qualifying for the NAIA finals by five-tenths of a point.

Tom Sterling

Sterling, a high bar specialist, is a sophomore from Thornton. He supplies good depth to the team.

Dale Simon

Simon, the team's top all-around man, provides the team with good depth. He is the team's top scorer, with 308.2 points. Simon is a junior from Bensenville.

Dave Sakata

Sakata is a freshman from Des Plaines. He placed third in the NAIA meet in the side horse event and sixth in the league meet.

Scott Shute

Shute just became eligible for the team this spring, but he has already competed in two championship meets in the parallel bars event. Shute is also a freshman from Des Plaines.

Gene Everett

Everett, the only senior on the team, is the captain. His home town is Champaign. Everett is the team's best man in the floor exercise event.

Coaches Dave Newey and John Schaefer

These 12 men have an outstanding season this year, and since they, all but one, will be returning, the hopes for next season are high.

COACH Schaefer was a gymnast at the University of Wisconsin in the flying rings event. He has been at Eastern for the past two years.

Schaefer's assistant this year is Dave Newey. Newey is a graduate assistant and was a floor exercise man at George Williams College in Downers Grove.

Keith Fuerst

Fuerst is a sophomore from Appleton, Wisconsin, who works in the all-around competition. He is the 1971 NAIA still rings champion and an all-American. Fuerst is the third highest scorer on the team. This is Fuerst's second year on the team as a varsity competitor.

Still rings champ

Keith Fuerst, NCAA college division still rings champion, is one of Coach Schaefer's "upper classmen." Fuerst, sophomore all-around man, is old compared to the freshman-laden squad.
